

[METHODS AND SYSTEMS FOR INTEGRATING COMMUNICATION RESOURCES USING THE INTERNET]

Abstract

The present invention relates to computer methods and systems for integrating technologies widely available that can be used for synchronous and non-synchronous communications. It particularly enables bidirectional communication through web sites using software already installed in Users' computers. The system provides an infrastructure for diverse solutions.